

Thailand Health, Fitness & Wellness Expo

CentralWorld Bangkok 13th to 16th August 2020

Latest News

With the Government of Thailand continuing to relax the lockdown within the country and the Shopping Malls along with many other businesses now able to open it is good to see that the venue, Central World Bangkok, for the Thailand Health, Fitness and Wellness Expo has once again customers visiting its many shops and facilities.

As we all emerge from this crisis and get back to some sort of normality many experts predict Health and Wellness will be at the forefront of peoples minds and if the Government continues to follow its current stated timescale of opening up the country by the middle of June then the Thailand Health, Fitness and Wellness Expo will be well positioned to attract a large audience of the general public and professionals who want to get out and about again and see what products, services, people and benefits are available for them to enjoy, relax, stay healthy and look after their well being, all of which will be on show at the Expo.

If you are interested in getting your brand, products and services in front of thousands of visitors over the 4 days of the Expo please either visit our web site www.thailandhealthandf... where you will find lots more information, exhibitor floor plans and pricing as well as the many sponsorship packages available or contact us below for further details. We will of course be observing the necessary government health and safety rules in place at that time although we expect these to be reduced somewhat from where they are right now as the country exits lockdown.

Don't miss this opportunity to get back to business and get your brand in front the many people who will want to buy.
